Businesses are always in need to communicate with their customers

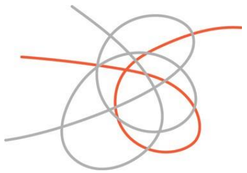

Mobile messaging proved to be the most efficient way

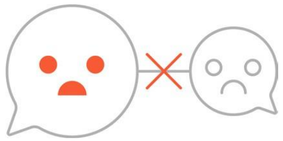

But prevailing messaging platforms were not designed to be used by enterprises

Connectivity difficulties with multiple platforms

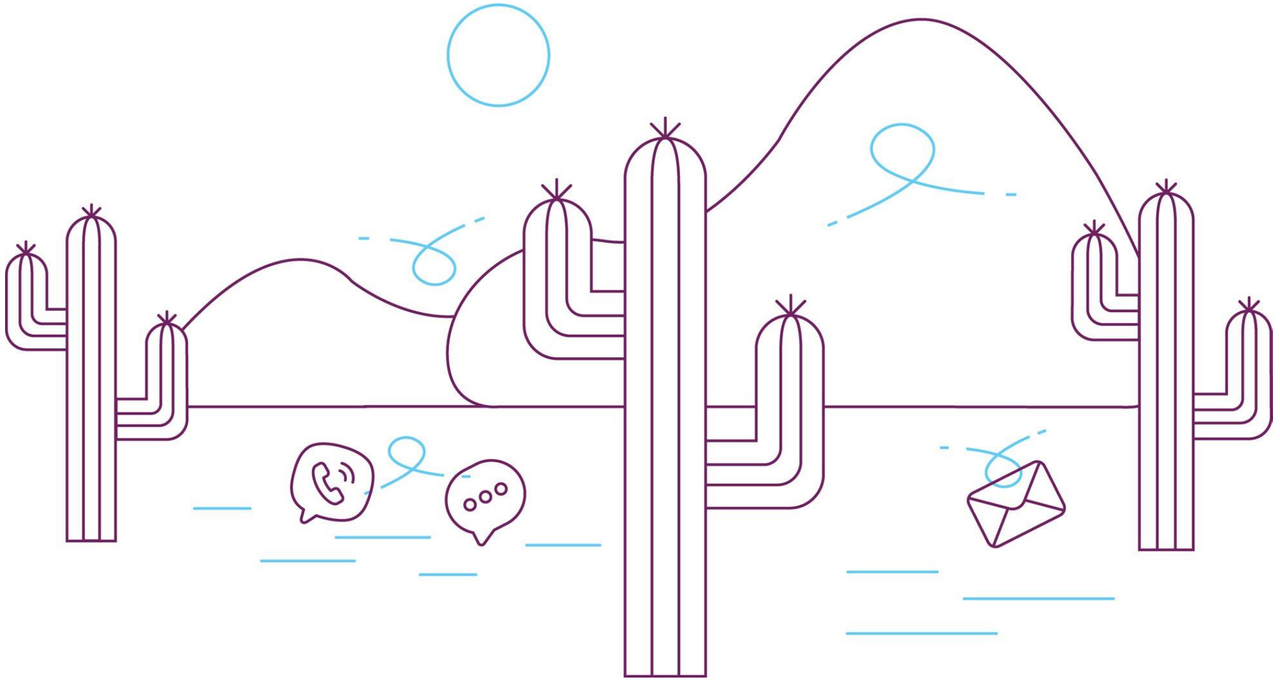

Complexity in managing various channels

Lack of two-way communication

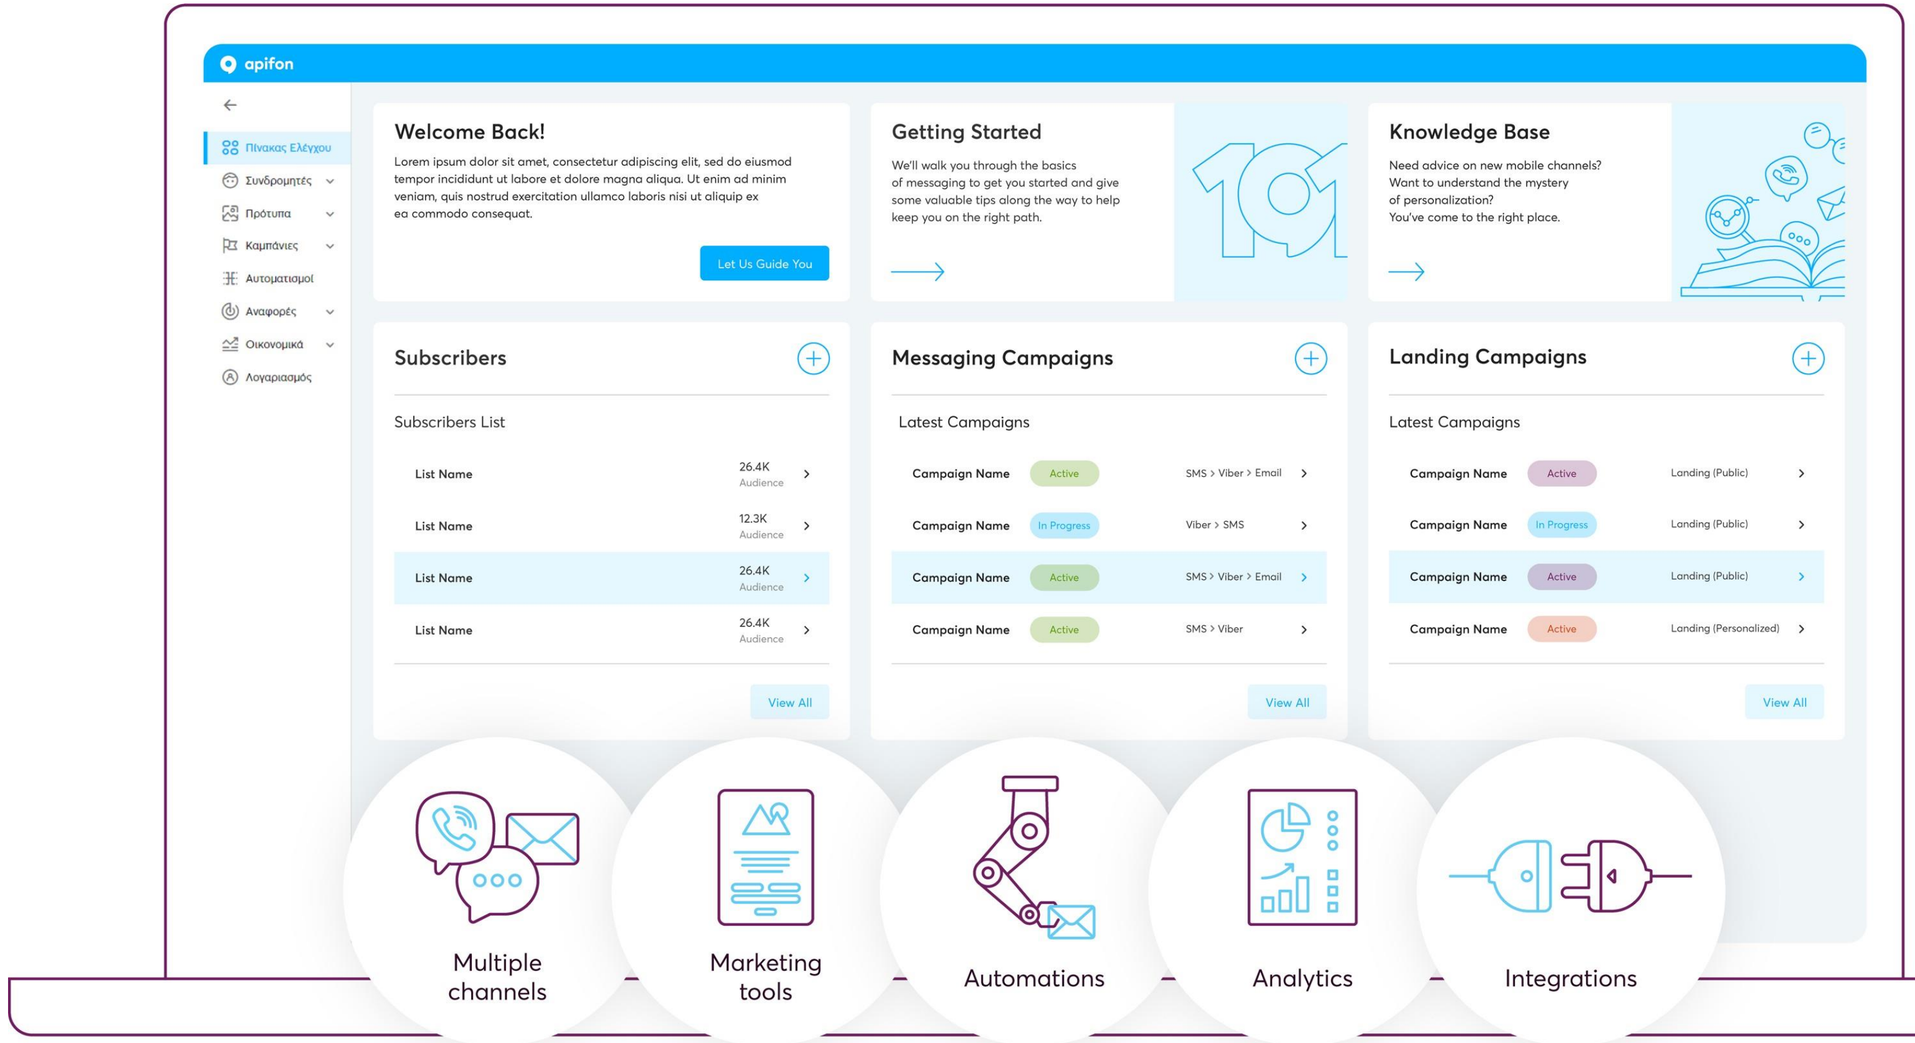

Automations not supported

Resulting to enterprise use single channel for bulk messaging or no messaging at all

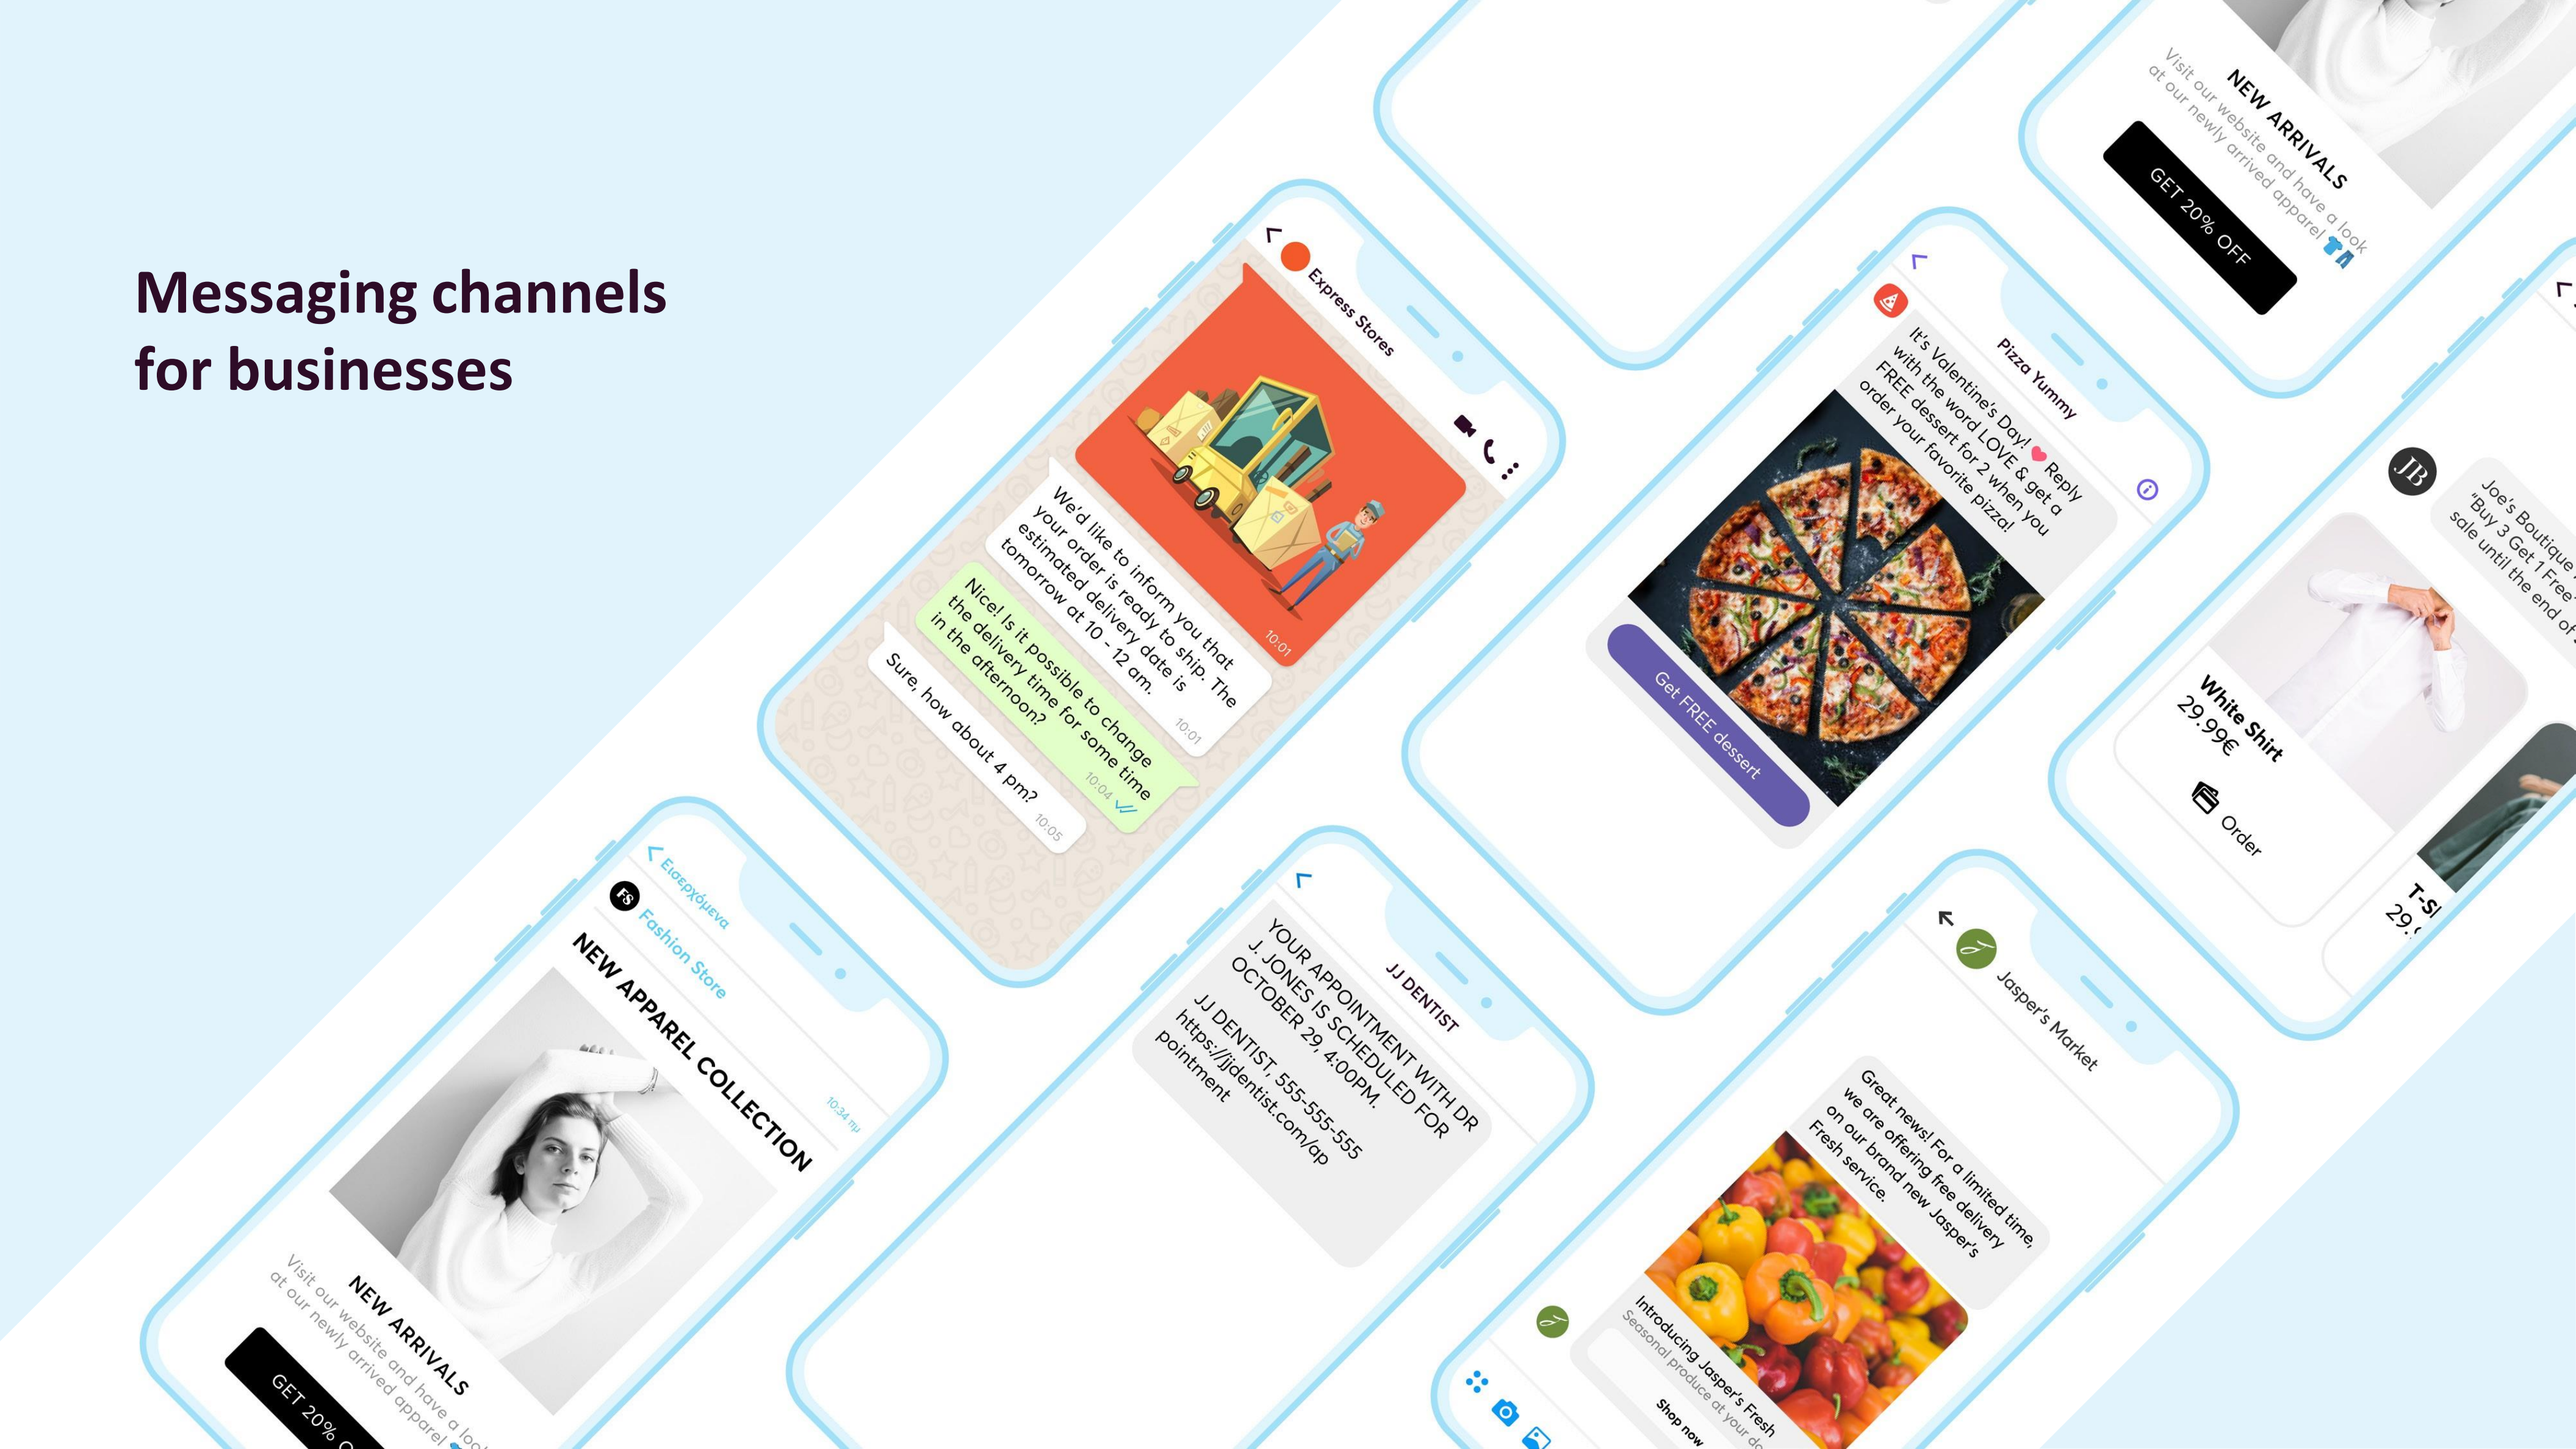

...so we introduced a platform for business messaging & mobile marketing

GDPR compliance

Interactive communication

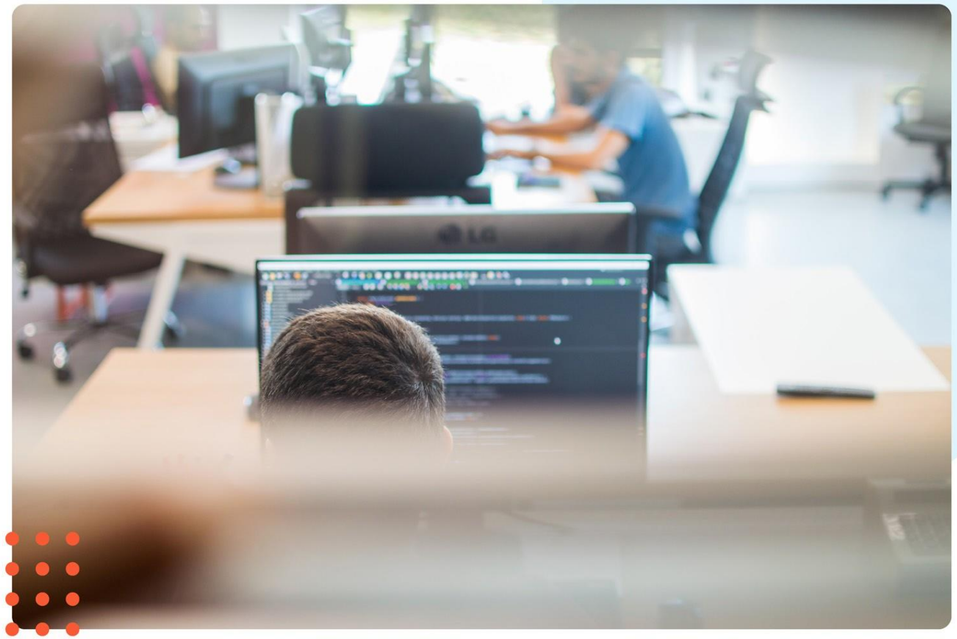

Messaging channels for businesses

Who we are

Apifon is a technology company that develops business messaging services

Through Apifon platform businesses can grow their audience, create multichannel messaging campaigns, measure their performance and enable marketing automations to increase revenues and improve customer experience.
